DIVISION OF EDUCATION

The sports management program has a coaching education foundation with a strong business emphasis. Even if you do not wish to pursue coaching/teaching, you learn key skills in how to present! We encourage students to also add on a business minor, but they can minor in anything they wish. We've had students minor in communications, marketing, accounting, criminology, and exercise science.

"I switched my major to sport management because sport and athletics is what I really loved. I learned how to teach a sport, skill development, and created coaching plans. This afforded me an unbelievable experience at D&E and I was able to excel as a whole person while I was there."

- Austin Pillado

Update: Austin just completed his master's in sport management at Texas A&M.
